Bluecube Technology Solutions Request an accessible format If you use assistive technology (such as a screen reader) and need versions of these documents in a more accessible format, email the supplier at enquiries@bluecube.uk.com. Tell them what format you need. It will help if you say what assistive technology you use. When people leave the organization, we mostly focus on their user-account in (Azure)AD, information stored in OneDrive and e-mails. But what if the user has been labeling and/or protecting documents using user-defined permissions? User Defined Permissions for encrypting Office documents sometimes conflict with the OLE functions for embedding documents. What's the Authenticated Users setting in sensitivity labels and what does or doesn't work? A little recap from my session at Bletchley Park (CollabDays UK 2022). What's the Authenticated Users setting in sensitivity labels and what does or doesn't work? Did you know that there's some advanced CA configurations possible for embedding SharePoint Online/OneDrive for Business? Now you do © Five tips for securing Microsoft Teams. Identity, information, device. What's the Authenticated Users setting in sensitivity labels and what does or doesn't work? More and more enterprises are starting to adopt the use of sensitivity labels for detecting, classifying and protecting their more Continue reading A short and closer look at PowerBI and Microsoft Information Protection working together. We are one of a very few expert companies working with organisations in the implementation of AIP rights management software and ensuring all of your documents and emails are fully protected at the point of creation. AIP is a module that is part of Microsoft's O365 Cloud email solution. A Microsoft Office 365 (now called Microsoft 365) subscription starts at $70 a year, or you can buy a license for about $150. But don't worry, you don't necessarily have to pay these prices. It doesn't matter if you need to use it on the go, or on a PC. It doesn't matter if you're going to be using it sparingly, or for 8 hours a day. There are ways you can get Office 365 for free. Use Microsoft Office Online To compete with Google's suite of productivity apps, Microsoft offers an online-only version of its popular Office apps for free. You can use Word, Excel, and PowerPoint in a browser on your Mac, Windows PC, or a Chromebook, entirely for free. While they are not as feature rich as the desktop apps, most of the core functionality is available. The editing features in Word, and functions in Excel are all available in the Office Online experience (in a modern, web-based package). Just open Office.com in your browser and sign in with your Microsoft account. Then, you can create a blank document or start with one of the templates. If you were already working on a document, or if you have received a document that you need to edit, you can easily upload it to Office Online (using drag and drop). Try Office 365 For Free If you only need Microsoft Office for a while (say, if you have college submissions due in a couple of weeks), you can just use the trial version of Microsoft Office. Go to the Microsoft Office for Free website and sign up for the trial. While you'll have to provide a credit card for this, you can cancel the subscription before the month ends. This way, you won't be charged automatically. You can even cancel it right after signing up and continue to use the trial for the rest of the month. The trial will give you access to the Microsoft 365 Home plan (previously known as the Office 365 Home plan). You'll get access to all Office 365 products for free like Word, Excel, PowerPoint, OneNote, Outlook, not to mention 1TB cloud storage space. Once you sign up for Office 365, you'll be able to use the desktop Office apps offline with all the available features. If your month is up, you can sign up again using a different email address to get an extra month (or two). Use Office 365 Mobile Apps For Free Microsoft has a free version of Office available for smartphones and tablets. If your device screen is smaller than 10.1 inches, you can edit Microsoft Office documents for free. This includes 10-inch Android tablets and the 9.7-inch iPad (but not the 10.2-inch 7th-Generation iPad). If your device is larger than 10.1 inches, you'll have to get an Office 365 subscription, or use the read-only mode. Download: Microsoft Office (iOS, Android) Get Office 365 Education Version For Free If you're a student, teacher, or even alumni, you can use the entire offline Microsoft Office 365 suite for free. The catch is that your school or educational institute needs to have an education license. Go to the Office 365 Education page and enter your .edu email address to see if you qualify. If you do, you can download and use all Office apps on your computer. Try The Evaluation Version Microsoft has a separate trial for their business and enterprise users that offers the same Office 365 experience. You can head over to the Microsoft Evaluation Center and sign up for their 30-day ProPlus plan as another way to get the 30 days Office 365 trial. Get Office 365 For Free With a New PC Yes, this is not the most cost-effective option, but if you're shifting to working from home, or if you're in the market for a new PC, you can look for ones that come with a Microsoft Office 365 subscription. You can find Windows laptops that cost less than $500 that come bundled with a free Office 365 Home plan that can be shared with up to 6 users. Join a Shared Microsoft 365 Home Plan Speaking of the Microsoft 365 Home plan, you can ask around to see if you know anyone that already uses it. If you find a professional or a small business-person who uses the plan, you can ask them to add you to it. Hey, if you can share your Netflix account, why not your Office account too? That way you can split the $99/year cost between six users. That means you can get the entire Microsoft Office 365 experience for around $17/year. Now that's a great deal. If you can convince them to add you for free, that's an even better option. Ask Your Employer To Buy It For You If the Microsoft Office suite is important for you to get work done, you can make the case to your employer. Instead of paying for it out of your pocket, you can ask for it to be covered as a company expense. Look For Deals on Shared Subscriptions Microsoft's website is not the only place where you can sign up for an Office 365 subscription. If you monitor the deals, you'll find some discounts for the Office 365 Personal Home plans online. After discounts, you might get the Home plan for around $80 ($20 off) from Amazon. When you're looking for these deals, make sure they are from a legitimate site. Don't fall for the ebay sellers that offer Microsoft 365 or Office 365 subscriptions for $1. They might work for a while, but they are definitely not a legal option. Use Free Office 365 Alternatives Lastly, you don't need to use Microsoft Office to work with Office documents. Instead, you can use the LibreOffice suite for Windows, Mac, and Linux which is a free and open-source alternative to Microsoft Office. Using LibreOffice, you can get a similar offline desktop Office experience where you can create, open, and edit DOCX Word documents, XLS Excel spreadsheets, and PPTX PowerPoint presentations easily. If you want an online alternative to Microsoft Office, you can use Google's suite of productivity apps. Google Docs, Sheets, and Slides supports Microsoft's Word, Excel, and PowerPoint formats respectively. There are many more Microsoft Office 365 alternatives. Take a look at our list of the 6 best Microsoft Office alternatives to learn more. How do you use Microsoft Office suite in your work and personal life? Share with us in the comments below. Azure Information ProtectionSSHello2022-02-08T16:31:37+00:00Azure Information Protection simplifies document security, making it easier to keep business data safe no matter where it is and who it is shared with. Azure Information Protection protects documents, emails, and sensitive company data through clever classification, permission settings, and encryption. Keeping everything safe within your businesses, and when shared with external contacts. Configure organisation policies to classify, label, and protect your data based on its sensitivity. Classification can be automated based on recommendations. Classifications and protection stays with your data within and without your businesses. Documents are encrypted, with controlled access, on your OneDrive for Business, and Outlook integration means documents sent via email require the receiver to confirm their identity before opening. IT teams have access to detailed logging and reporting tools. Activities taken on data are visible, audible, and access can be revoked at any time. Define who can access data, their access rights (eg view, edit, share, or print), and how information is accessed by external contacts. The combined features of Azure Information Protection mean you can be re-assured your data is safe. One key aspect of Azure Information Protection encrypting emails, and attachments, when they leave your organisations. Both P1 and P2 work in the same way, delivering seamless, transparent, encryption. One key aspect of Azure Information Protection encrypting emails, and attachments, when they leave your organisations. Both P1 and P2 work in the same way, delivering seamless, transparent, encryption. An employee writes an email in Outlook, flagging the message as protected, or includes a protected document as an attachment. Office 365 examines all outgoing emails. When one is found flagged for encryption, or with a protected document, the contents are placed on a secure Microsoft server. Instead of receiving the original email, the recipient is sent a simple message informing them a secure message has been sent, and asking them to confirm their identity. Recipients with Office 365 accounts can confirm their identity within Outlook, with the full message then being displayed. Non-Office 365 recipients are directed to a secure Microsoft website where they can log in, or if needed create, a Microsoft account to confirm their identity and view the message online. Azure Information Protection is included as standard in selected Office 365 services.
