As you can imagine, having the same name for a unit with two different definitions is not a big situation. How many megabytes per second in a megabit per second? You're not the only one confused here, keep reading to understand why. Phone speed between 450 and 650 Mbps. USB 2.0 Transmission speed 480 mbit/s = 60 Mb/s. The difference between MBPS and MB/S A MB per second (MB/S) is a non-standard drive for network performance, often used due to its convenience, as most of the file sizes that are worked with are generally expressed in bytes units : KB, MB, GB, etc., and not bit drives such as KBP and MBP. Both previous answers are correct, depending on the unity convention that is relevant (agreed) in your particular case.
