CHAPTER - 4 FOREST SOCIETY AND COLONIALISM

POINTS TO REMEMBER:

- The comprehensive cutting down of trees is referred as Deforestation.
 Process of deforestation under colonial rule had become systematic and extensive.
- Between 1700 and 1995, the period of industrialization, 13.9 million sq km of forest or 9.3 per cent of the world's total area was cleared.
- The reason for this large scale deforestation were as follows-
- A. Expansion of cultivation takes place rapidly for a variety of reasons I. The British directly encouraged the production of commercial crops to feed the growing urban population
- II. Raw materials for the industries.
- B. The colonial govt. thought that forests were unproductive. That the land could yield agricultural products and revenue, and enhance the income of the state.
- C. For Imperial shipbuilding strong and durable wood were needed ,
 D. The spread of railways from the 1850s created a new demand of timber
- To run locomotives, wood was needed as fuel,
 To lay railway lines sleepers were essential to hold the tracks
- together. %
- IV. For the movement of imperial troops.
- E. Large areas of natural forests were also cleared to make way for tea, coffee and rubber plantations to meet Europe's growing need for these commodities.
- The British were worried that the use of forests by local people and the reckless felling of trees by traders would destroy forests. So they decided to
- reckiess rening of trees by traders would desirely forests. So they decided to
